BACHELOR OF ARTS WITH A MAJOR IN ASIAN STUDIES

From discussions in the classroom with expert faculty to ambassador visits to unique study abroad opportunities, students majoring in Asian Studies at GW's Elliott School don't just study it—they experience it. They understand and engage with this pivotal region, building knowledge of civilizations with a long and rich history. Along with the disciplinary foundations of international affairs, students in the program proceed to take courses in history, political science, economics, and anthropology. They also develop language skills, deepening their knowledge and understanding of the region. Asian Studies graduates can go on to serve as senior policymakers or diplomats, international business executives, or global nonprofit leaders.

Visit the program website (https://elliott.gwu.edu/asian-studiesmajor/) for additional information.

ADMISSIONS

For information about the admission process, including deadlines, visit the Office of Undergraduate Admissions website (https:// undergraduate.admissions.gwu.edu/). Applications can be submitted via the Common Application (https://go.gwu.edu/ commonapp/).

Supporting documents not submitted online should be mailed to:

Office of Undergraduate Admissions The George Washington University 800 21st St NW Suite 100 Washington, DC 20052

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

Elliott School bachelor's degrees engage students with global issues through multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary approaches. Students begin their studies in the first year with foundational courses in political science, economics, history, and anthropology or geography. They supplement these courses with others in the traditional liberal arts categories of writing, oral communication, natural or physical science, mathematics or statistics, and the humanities/creative arts, plus two writing in the disciplines courses. Language study also is emphasized early to enable students to satisfy the third-year language proficiency requirement of the bachelor's degree in a timely manner.

Elliott School bachelor's degrees require a minimum of 120 credits. The following three sets of requirements must be fulfilled:

- 1. University General Education Requirements
- 2. Elliott School Introductory Requirements
- 3. Major Requirements

1. University General Education Requirements

Coursework (https://bulletin.gwu.edu/university-regulations/ general-education/#generaleducationtext) for the University General Education Requirement is distributed as follows:

- One course in critical thinking in the humanities.
- Two courses in critical thinking, quantitative reasoning, or scientific reasoning in the social sciences.
- One course that has an approved oral communication component.
- One course in quantitative reasoning (must be in mathematics or
  - · Students in the BS in international affairs program are required to take a calculus-based course to fulfill the University General Education requirement in quantitative reasoning. Options include MATH 1220 and MATH 1221; MATH 1231; MATH 1232; or MATH 1252. Students must complete all required prerequisites for their intended analytic core courses. Students are encouraged to consult their advisor with any questions.
- One course in scientific reasoning, with lab (must be in natural and/or physical laboratory sciences).
- UW 1020 (https://bulletin.gwu.edu/search/?P=UW %201020) University Writing (4 credits).
- After successful completion of UW 1020, 6 credits distributed over at least two writing in the discipline (WID) courses taken in separate semesters. WID courses are designated by a "W" appended to the course number.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

If you are an Elliott School student who started at GW before Fall 2024, you are following a different version of the curriculum. Please find your degree requirements in the archived Bulletin (https://bulletin.gwu.edu/archives/) for your matriculation year.

Students pursuing the BA in Asian Studies as a second major must complete all of the major requirements listed below, including any prerequisites for these courses. These requirements are taken in addition to the requirements for the student's primary major, which typically includes completion of the University General Education requirement and other requirements specific to the primary major. Students are encouraged to talk with their home school's academic advisor for more information about their primary major requirements.

The following requirements must be fulfilled:

The general requirements stated under Elliott School of International Affairs, Undergraduate Degree Requirements (http://bulletin.gwu.edu/international-affairs/#regulationstext).

A minimum grade of C- must be earned in all major requirement courses, to include the last course used to prove third-year proficiency in a modern regional language.
