

POST-BACCALAUREATE CERTIFICATE IN CLINICAL EMBRYOLOGY AND ASSISTED REPRODUCTIVE TECHNOLOGY

The Certificate in Clinical Embryology and Assisted Reproductive Technology at the George Washington University (GW) School of Medicine and Health Sciences (SMHS) prepares individuals to work in facilities as trained laboratory professionals who specialize in helping infertility case treatment via the use of in vitro-fertilization (IVF) and assisted reproductive technology (CEART).

This program includes a combination of online coursework and hands-on labs in human embryology, and andrology. The required in-person lab courses at the GW Virginia Science and Technology Campus, VSTC, are completed in the final semester.

The CEART program explores the latest in clinical embryology. Over the duration of the program, students will explore the interconnected sciences of endocrinology, embryology, cryobiology, and andrology.
