

HEALTH, HUMAN FUNCTION, AND REHABILITATION SCIENCES

OVERVIEW

The Department of Health, Human Function, and Rehabilitation Sciences captures the broad array of education, clinical practice innovation, and research being accomplished—each focused on improving the quality of lives of patients and families.

Visit the department's website (<https://smhs.gwu.edu/academics/health-sciences/departments/health-human-function-and-rehabilitation-sciences/>) for more information.

DOCTORAL

Doctoral programs

- Doctor of Health Sciences in the field of leadership in clinical practice and education (<http://bulletin.gwu.edu/medicine-health-sciences/graduate-programs/dhs-leadership-clinical-practice-and-education/>)
- Doctor of Occupational Therapy (Entry-Level) (<http://bulletin.gwu.edu/medicine-health-sciences/graduate-programs/doctor-occupational-therapy-entry-level/>)
- Doctor of Physical Therapy (<http://bulletin.gwu.edu/medicine-health-sciences/graduate-programs/doctoral-physical-therapy/>)