

BACHELOR OF PROFESSIONAL STUDIES WITH A MAJOR IN HOMELAND SECURITY

Program Director: J. Delinski

The subject of homeland security is at the forefront of study by law enforcement officials, security professionals, military personnel, intelligence analysts, and government contractors. GW's bachelor's degree completion program in homeland security provides students with the knowledge, skills, and abilities they need to succeed in such positions. Program graduates are equipped with greater potential for career advancement, whether they are searching for a new job in the marketplace, reaching for a promotion, or exploring a second career.

One of the unique features of the program's cutting-edge education and training is its methodology. Each course follows an organized and logical flow in which students learn to examine the threat landscape, conduct in-depth analysis of the threat, and assess industry standards and best practices to respond to and mitigate the threat.
